Architects the world over love the natural look and warmth of wood but don't want to hide the grain or run the risk of having paints, coatings or stains peel and flake over time. CUTEK provides the perfect solution as it can be easily applied to wood (pre construction) on all sides which makes for a superior wood item. Each clear coat application has a cumulative build within the wood to provide long term protection and the clear oil is a favourite due to the speed and ease of use. It allows the full beauty to be seen and the wood to be seen and it will lighten naturally over time while still remaining completely protected.

Many customers desire to see the wood lighten this way as it has a natural beauty of its own while providing a very low maintenance option.

For those that want to maintain the new wood look, a simple clean and further coat will bring it back to its original condition.
